

(U.S. Navy photo by Mark Piggott)

The Powhatan Village of Kiskiak

November 6th, 2022

Tidewater Virginia Historical Society welcomes Dr. Martin Gallivan to discuss his recent research on the Powhatan town of Kiskiak, located in what is now Yorktown Naval Weapons Station, and the history of human-environmental relations recorded in shell middens at the site.

Dr. Gallivan, College of William and Mary Anthropology Department's Chair and professor, specializes in Archaeology and American Indians and their Colonial Encounters.

Sunday, November 6 2022

4:00 pm

The Hennage Auditorium

At The Art Museums of Colonial Williamsburg

301 S. Nassau Street

- Please RSVP by November 1st to TidewaterVAHistoricalSociety@gmail.com
- Go to TV-HS.org for details on this event, how to become a member, and so much more at Tidewater Virginia Historical Society.